of any real estate acquired under the provisions of the 'Gold Mining Amendment Act, 1873,' shall be in writing, signed by the transferrer or his agent authorized, and attested by a subscribing witness.'

"And whereas similar provisions were made by sections 38 and 56 of the 'Gold Mining Ordinance, 1867,' being chapter 123 of the 'Consolidated Statutes of British Columbia, 1877,' as follows:—

"38. No transfer of any claim, or of any interest therein, shall be enforceable, unless the same or some memorandum thereof shall be in writing, signed by the transferrer, or by his legally authorized agent, and registered with the Gold Commissioner.'

"56. The transfer of any mining ground, or of any portion thereof, acquired or held under the provisions of the "Gold Mining Amendment Act, 1873," shall be in writing, but need not be by deed, but such transfers may be made in writing according to the practice hitherto established under this Ordinance.'

"And whereas, acting under the said sections and in accordance with traditional customs among miners, numerous informal documents were drawn, delivered and accepted as absolute transfers of the entire estate of the grantors, whereas the legal effect of the same was only to pass a lesser estate:—

"And whereas it is now frequently impossible to ascertain the existence or whereabouts of the grantors of such instruments or their heirs, and, consequently, the titles to numerous placer claims are clouded by the defects in such instruments, and it is desirable that such defects should be cured; be it therefore enacted:—

"1. Every instrument, memorandum of sale or other writing, whether under seal or not, executed before the passing of this Act, purporting to transfer any interest in any placer claim or claims held under the authority of the Mining Laws of the Province in force at the time of such transfer, from which, by reason of its customary use or from other satisfactory reasons, it is plainly deducible that the intention of the maker thereof was to pass to the transferee the maker's entire interest in such claim or claims, shall, unless some reservation or exception or contrary intention appears, otherwise than by the omission of proper operative words, or of words of inheritance, or by the presence of some other informality, or of one or more such, pass and be deemed to have passed to the transferee an estate of fee simple in the premises, or other the full estate held or possessed by the maker.

"2. Where, by reason of the loss of the documents of title to any such claim, it is impossible to produce the same for purposes of registration, it shall be sufficient to entitle an applicant to have his title registered under the Land Registry Acts, to produce to the Registrar of Titles a copy of the record of such transfer or transfers certified under the hand of the Mining Recorder in whose office are the books of record in which any such transfer is recorded."

Mr. Speaker Higgins gave the following decision:—

With respect to the Report of the Select Committee appointed to enquire into the claims of certain applicants to purchase lands near the mouth of Carpenter Creek, I think that the Committee have exceeded their powers in reporting "that Angus McGillivray has a just claim to the land in question."

The Committee might have recommended that the claim of Angus McGillivray be taken into the favourable consideration of the Government. Such a report would have been in harmony with the reports of Committees in similar cases during the past few years. I refer particularly to reports in the Journals of this House, Session 1888, relative to "Claims to Granville Town Lots," "Claims of Rev. George Ditcham," "Claims of Donald McKenzie," "Claims of Samuel Greer," "Claims of L. and E. Gold," and "Claims of James Morrison," all of which contented themselves with recommending the Government to favourably consider the claims of the respective parties. The report under consideration does not confine itself to a recommendation. It is mandatory in tone and effect; since its adoption would leave the Government no alternative but to convey the land to the claimant, or place itself in a position antagonistic to the House.

I think that the Committee have assumed a power that was not conferred or contemplated by the House when the Committee was appointed; and I so rule.

D. W. HIGGINS,
Speaker.

Resolved, That the House, at its rising, do stand adjourned until two o'clock to-morrow.
